PLAYER MANAGER

1.0 INTRODUCTION:

PLAYER Manager

Player Manager uses a specially modified version of KICK OFF to test Managerial decisions where it counts, on the pitch. End to end action tests your playing and Managerial skills to the limit. Playing on the pitch, as you control the nearest player to the ball, your skill and experience as a controller can be an immense advantage but not for long. A handicap system ensures that the long term rewards are not only based on your skill as a KICK OFF player but require managerial skills in equal measure.

A manager must continually strengthen his squad. A lively transfer market ensures that you have ample opportunity to do so. You must keep a strict eye on your finances as failure to do so may mean dismissal. Success on the field is rewarded with an increase in gate revenue, perhaps sponsorship or T.V. coverage. This in turn raises team morale and generates funds for strengthening the squad. Prolonged failure on the pitch can result in transfer requests, falling gates etc. and eventually the sack.

PLAYER MANAGER

2.0 SYNOPSIS:

There are three divisions in the league with 16 teams in each division. Two teams are relegated and two teams are promoted. There are also 2 Cup Competitions. Player Manager is played in REAL TIME. The managers of the remaining 47 clubs are playing games, buying and selling players and seeking success. For instance a player on the transfer market may be snapped up by another Manager if you hesitate. If you bid for a player, you may face counter bidding from other managers.

At the heart of the game is the squad and how you handle it. Some pointers for possible success are given below.

2.1 Keep a keen eye on the attributes and skills of each player. As they gain experience, the skills change and it is worth while experimenting with the positions in which you play certain players.

2.2 Study the tactics you adopt and see if you have suitable players. For example, if you use tactics depending on fast wing attack, have you a player with pace and good passing ability? If not, either change the tactics or buy a new player.

2.3 Promising young players are on the market and they are relatively cheap. If you buy one, take care not to over use him as you may burn him out. Nurture a young player carefully to get the best out of him and keep his morale high.

2.4 Keep a very close eye on the team morale. It can fluctuate quite a bit. A player's morale can suffer considerably if he is not selected. He may request a transfer. Watch out for the expiry of contracts. A player nearing the end of his contract can cause problems.

2.5 Watch out for the disciplinary points. A 4th yellow card is penalised by an automatic 2 match suspension. A player receiving a red card gets a 3 match suspension. You must bear in mind the forthcoming fixtures i.e. a cup game before you use a player requiring only 1 or 2 yellow cards before a suspension.

2.6 Injuries are a real headache for a Manager. A player recovering from injury should be treated with care. A full game may do long term injury to a player. However, if you are unable to field a team due to injury, suspensions etc., reserve players will be made available.

2.7 Study the transfer market carefully with a view to strengthening your squad. Put unwanted players on the market at the earliest possible opportunity. Of course the best players are very seldom put on the transfer list. You can instruct your scout to seek out a particular type of player you need. He may also spot an exceptional talent or unsettled players in other clubs.

2.9 The decision to play, watch or ask for a predicted result is difficult. If you are a good player of KICK OFF, it is worthwhile to play the game. The predicted result is based on the relative strengths of the squad and tactics used. If you watch, the game is actually played by the computer Vs computer and in a game of soccer, the unexpected can happen. e.g. your best player may get a red card or an injury.

2.10 Player Manager can be a very deep game. Over many seasons, it will give you years of enjoyment. With 26 different set ups and 3 skill levels, you have totally different challenge facing you each time. Set up E is a good one giving you a nicely balanced team. On the other hand if you would like to experience sheer purgatory, you can try set up L.

PLAYER MANAGER

2.11 Finally a tip on buying a player. Look at the attributes and skills equally. There is no point in buying a forward with high shooting skill but no pace or poor stamina. The skills and attributes should match. Furthermore the skills improve with experience but attributes do not improve a lot - only get worse with age.

6.2.15 CLUB VALUATION:

This shows the book value of the player. It changes from time to time depending on the player's performance, International Appearances etc. This is the book value of the player and tends to be high to keep the Bank happy.

6.3 BANK

Every club is allocated a certain amount of money at the start of a New Game. Club finances are your responsibility. You must keep a very close eye on it. If the board feels that your handling of the money will bankrupt the Club, you will get sacked and the GAME OVER message will appear. You will get messages from the Directors at the end of each match. Pay heed to these messages. If the finances are deteriorating, sell players to balance the books. You may have to accept a low price if you leave it to the last moment. It is therefore essential that you constantly look at your finances and trim the squad if you are getting near the danger zone. On the other hand if you are flush with money, the Directors will take a very dim view if you do not strengthen the squad to win promotion, championship or cups. Your ratings will go down and you will get the sack.

6.3.1 REVENUE:

6.3.1.1 GATE MONEY:

The entrance fee is set by the Computer. It depends on the division and factors like:

- It is a local derby.

When the line is filled up with hearts, it signifies that the player is badly injured and he will be out for the season. If the line shows red crosses, the player is seriously injured and his playing career is over.

6.9 COACH The Manager may instruct the Coach to give extra training to improve their skills which may affect their morale. He can also instruct him to SKIP training to lift the team morale before an important match.

6.9.1 COACH ASSESSMENT: The Coach gives the Manager his assessment of the team in four main departments of the game. The departments are Keepers, Defenders, Midfielders and Forwards. It compares the Club average against the average for the division. If you are below the division average in a department, you must look at the transfer market to strengthen your squad. Above average strength should be utilised by selecting the correct tactics.

6.9.2 COACH MESSAGES: Appear after the MATCH DAY (See 6.13).

6.9.3 TACTICS

The tactics adopted plays a very important part in the game. There are 8 tactics. The tactics are:-

4-2-4: - An attacking tactic using 2 wingers, no sweepers. Always likely to score.

4-3-3: - A well balanced tactic.

4-4-2: - A defensive tactic with a 4 man midfield. The forwards are worked hard and need good stamina.

5-3-2: - At first glance a very defensive formation using a sweeper. Depending on the quality of the sweeper, the defence can quickly turn into attack

PLAYER MANAGER

5-4-1: - A strong defensive formation. The sweeper and strong midfield makes penetration by the opposition difficult.

4-5-1: - The midfield controls the game providing the back up to 1 man up front.

5-2-3: - A sweeper system with 3 front men could well be the answer, provided the depleted midfield can hold the ground. The sweeper provides strong support in attack as well as defence.

5-1-4: - Another sweeper line up but with strong attacking bias. Used when your back is against the wall and you must score to survive. The defence has to work hard to support the solitary midfielder.

6.9.3.1 MATCH TACTICS: You can select any 4 of the 8 tactics provided for a match. You can select one of the 4 match tactics as START tactics. The tactics during the match can be changed.

6.9.3.2 SELECTING MATCH

TACTICS: Four match tactics are pre-selected. To replace a match tactic, select the tactics to be replaced and then the replacement tactics.

The top tactics in the Match Tactics table is the START tactics. To replace current start tactics, select any tactics in the match tactics table. The match tactics are identified by the letters A, B, C and D. During the match these letters are used to identify the current tactics. It is best to make a note about the identification of these letters.

6.9.3.3 VIEW TACTICS: You can view any of these 8 tactics. Two views are displayed - Attack on the left and Defence on the right. The highlighted area represents the position of the ball. Move the highlight by selecting at various positions on the pitch. You can follow the movement of players as the ball moves from one area of the pitch to another.

- ATTACK shows you in possession of the ball attacking the goal at the top.
- DEFENCE shows your opponents in possession of the ball attacking goal at the bottom. Highlight any square to represent the ball position and press button B. The players indicated by their shirt numbers will take their positions.
- KICK OFF: Select the Kick Off spot on the pitch on the left. The Attack pitch will show the position of your players when you take a KICK OFF and Defence shows the opposition taking KICK OFF.
- CORNERS: Top corners show the position of your players when you take the corner and the bottom when you are defending the corner by the opposition.
- GOAL KICK: The top goals show the position of your players when the opposition keeper takes the goal kick and the bottom when your keeper takes the goal kick.

6.10 PERSONAL

Each option on this screen affects the Manager's career in a substantial way. The options are:

- Retire as a player.
- Apply for another job.
- Rejuvenate yourself as a young Manager to be able to play again on the pitch.

6.10.1 RETIRE AS A PLAYER: As the Manager gets older, his attributes and skills as a player deteriorate and he can become a handicap on the pitch as a player. The time has come to hang up his boots.

However, if you decide to retire while you are still young, the board may refuse your request. Select the RETIRE icon to retire as a player but continue as a Manager. Your name will be removed from the squad list.

6.10.2 APPLY FOR A NEW JOB: If you feel that you are under threat of the sack or have been given notice of termination of contract at the end of the season, you may consider looking for another club as a Manager.

From time to time, other Clubs are looking for a new Manager. These jobs appear in the VACANCIES.

Before applying for the job, you may wish to see the details of the Club. Select DATA icon for the details. To apply for the job, select APPLY icon. Remember, your application may affect your team morale.

6.10.3 REJUVENATION AS A YOUNG PLAYER: Once you have retired as a player, you cannot play on the pitch. After a few years you will see one of your family members playing overseas, making an appearance in the International squad. He will have the same name as yours. When he becomes available, his name and the price will be displayed. He will be very expensive to start with but his price will come down as he gets older.

To buy him, use BUY option. He will immediately replace you and become PLAYER MANAGER of the Club.

6.11 FIXTURES

You can see the home and away fixtures in the league. The fixtures for the two Cups are shown at the appropriate times.

The results of the matches played so far are also displayed. The draws for the Cup competitions and the results are displayed.

PLAYER MANAGER

At this stage you can press the start button and quit the screen. You can go to League Statistics and see the League Tables, Results of the last week fixtures, Hot Shots etc.

6.15 NEW SEASON: When you are ready, select NEW SEASON icon on the promotion and relegation display.

7.0 MATCHDAY

The most important task for the Manager on the Match Day is to pick the team for the match. He can look at the strength of the opposition and select the tactics to win and the team capable of putting the tactics into operation.

7.1 SELECT SQUAD:

Only the available Squad is displayed. Injured, red carded players or players on International duty are not displayed. If such a player is a currently selected player, a RESERVE Player will appear in his usual shirt position drawing your attention to his absence. If for some reason there are not enough players to make up the match squad, Reserve players will be made available. Selecting a squad is very important.
